The classrooms of the school have been filled for days with a thick, acrid smoke from the woodworking plant's chimney. The pupils and teachers have spent-hours of misery from smarting eyes and rasping bronchial passages. Complaint after complaint made directly to the owner of the factory was ignored.

Superintendent Maxwell was appealed to by the principal of the school. He sent a notice to the owner to abate the nuisance. No attention was paid to it. On April 17 he caused the arrest of the man and had him held for trial. But the smoke nuisance continued.

The apparent purpose of the factory owner to defy the law led to his place being declared a public nuisance on April 25. Due notice was given and he was asked to appear and defend himself. Nothing was heard from himself. They insisted upon starting the first with shavings and the fireman was arrested. Then, in spite of the protests of the workmen, unable to do anything with their machines in the glossence of nower, the policemen sealed the heller-room door and put the woodworking plant temporarily out of businers.

Some time after a member of the family went to his room to ask how he felt and found the young man lifeless.

In his hand was clutched a life policy in the Order of Foresters for $1,000 and a will, unsigned, but apparently dictated disposing of the policy and some personal property.

It is known that Mason visited a disorderly resort in the afternoon, and the theory of the police is that certain persons he met there, planning to get the insurance money and his belongings, wrote the will and then gave him poison.

Mason could neither read nor write, so it is certain the will was not transcribed by him.

The robbery was not discovered until the clerks entered the office to-day. A hasty examination of the contents of the vault caused the assertion by the clerks that securities valued at from $100,000 to $150,000 had been taken.

When Hugh Crabbe, the manager of the estate of Levi Z. beiter, arrived at the office he at once declared that the amount of the robbery would not amount to more than $12,000, and produced a package of bonds valued at $125,000 stolen.

These Refrigerators Are Far More Than "Ice Boxes" --- Some Facts

years hence they'll be wholly out of use. Their deserts-merely.

These refrigerators are clean and sweet-smelling all the time, because they are constructed on the most scientific principles. For instance, a pure stream of cold dry air is always in circulation-not damp air, mind you. For damp air affects foods and makes them go bad quickly. The woods used will not warp, and are known to be splendid non-conductors of heat. And the iceman hates these makes-they're bad for his businessthey save the housekeeper too much money.
